Over Confidence of the Republicans [illegible] Chicago—Too Much Grant

CHICAGO Oct 29.—There is great [illegible] commotion among [illegible] day and the republicans [illegible] were [illegible] gentle counting [illegible] majority [illegible] a few days a[illegible] the chances of a defeat. [illegible] tickets ever placed before the people [illegible] weak candidates [illegible] are neglecting [illegible] likely to [illegible] unless they [illegible] work from now [illegible] election day. This state [illegible] over confidence [illegible] recognize the [illegible] more largely due to [illegible] Grant [illegible]. While prominent republicans are [illegible] making preparations for a magnificent reception [illegible] proposing to erect [illegible] and spend from $15,000 to $30,000 the [illegible] republican committee find it hard work to raise the [illegible] money necessary to pay election expenses. Meantime while apathy or indifference has captured the republican camp orders to-day come from the national committee at Washington that this city must be carried at all hazards in the forthcoming election for the democracy. Rumors of a large sized barrel having been tendered for that purpose are rife, and certain it is that to-day democratic headquarters are thronged while republican headquarters are nearly deserted. If the republican ticket is defeated it will be chiefly due to the ill timed and injudicious attempts of his friends to turn the entire attention of the party to welcoming Grant. The danger lies in the possibility of Illinois being considered a doubtful state in 188[illegible].

An Ignorant Criticism

NEW YORK, Oct 29.—At a meeting of the Farmers' Club yesterday Vice President Dodge read a memorial paper prepared by the committee on Agent Meeker. He said that it was singular that newspapers should have been instrumental in killing a journalist. Meeker felt that at any time there might be an outbreak of Indians and telegraphed to Washington for troops. Through newspapers publishing this request Meeker was attacked before troops could reach him.

Fresh Indian "Signs" Near Milk River

RAWLINS, Wyo., Oct 29.—James Drais, General Merritt's chief of scouts came into Rawlins this morning with dispatches and mail. He reports numerous fresh Indian trails crossing the road in the vicinity of Williams fork and Snow rapids and also a camp fire near Milk river about eight miles north of Snake river at the crossing of Cottonwood creek. On the Muddy he saw three Indians. He and Eugene Taylor one of Merritt's scouts, fired upon them and they retreated up the bed of the creek. Drais came on into Rawlins warning the escort with the body of Lieut Weir which was a short distance ahead of him, and also a number of ranchmen on their way to Snake river. Lieut. Weir's body will be here on Thursday morning and will be received by Col Brackett's command. Funeral services will be held here and the remains will be shipped east.

Thirty Indians Reported Killed by Soldiers.

Inspector Pollock telegraphs to the commissioner of Indian affairs from Los Pinos as follows: "Ouray says that five lodges of the Muache band of Utes, who had been living on the Dry Cimarron, started about thirty days ago for the Southern Ute agency and were last seen near Levato station on the Rio Grande Railroad. I fear they have been killed by soldiers. If so the Southern Utes will seek revenge. I will start for that agency at once."

The "Poor Indian."

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Before the Missionary Association this afternoon Gen. J. B. Leake made a powerful argument for giving the Indians a legal status and citizenship. Resolutions in harmony with his ideas were adopted.

The Georgia Method of "Burying the Animosities of the Past."

MACON, Oct 29.—A confederate monument was unveiled to-day with the most imposing ceremonies in the presence of 25,000 people. The military display was very fine. Col. [illegible] Hardeman the orator was introduced by Gov. Colquitt and delivered an eloquent and patriotic address in which he counseled peace and fraternity and the burying of the animosities of the past. It was received with immense enthusiasm.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Starving Indians.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A telegram was received at the war department this morning from Gen. McDowell stating that the Hualapai Indians, in northern Arizona, were starving and asking if they could be fed by the war department. There being no appropriation available for such purposes, the matter was referred to the department of the interior.

The Hualapai Indians Provided For

It is ascertained at the interior department that subsistence for the Hualapai Arizona Indians, whom Gen. McDowell reports to be starving, was provided for by the Indian bureau several months ago by means of an official letter authorizing the war department to issue rations of beef and flour to those Indians and to present accounts for payment by the Indian bureau. The term for which this authorization was given will not expire until the 29th of December but Commissioner Hayt yesterday extended the time to sixty days from that date. Before the expiration of that period congress will have an opportunity to make an appropriation for the Hualapais. They are not agency Indians and no appropriation has ever been made for them specially.

Washakie Promises Peace for His Tribe

WASHINGTON, Oct 29.—Commissioner Hayt has received the following dispatch:

SHOSHONE AND BANNOCK AGENCY, Wy. [illegible]
October 28 1879.

Commissioner Indian Affairs: In view of the many rumors afloat to the effect that Indians on this reservation are about to go on the war path Washakie speaks for the Shoshones and also for the Arapahoes and desires me to inform the great father that all the Indians are friendly peaceable and quietly attending their affairs and no one need apprehend any trouble from this quarter.

A Ride through the Great Sutro Tunnel and through the Savage Shaft

OFF FOR THE EAST

The Best Speech yet—Brief Pointed and Sensible

[illegible] F. W. Mack [illegible] Fair delivered an address to which the general replied as follows:

Mr President, Ladies and Gentlemen, and [illegible] the Society of the Pacific Coast Pioneers: Your president has already said what I feel in appreciation of my reception here. Nothing which I received abroad was such a source of pleasure to me. I do not mean by this to disparage my greeting abroad. It was an honest and hearty one and showed the high esteem felt for our country by foreign nations. It would have been quite different a quarter of a century ago. Now we are regarded as the most powerful nation on the earth. We have much which European nations have not. That is we have a population which as yet does not threaten to crowd any inhabited district or exhaust the productiveness of the soil. We have extensive soil and immense undeveloped resources to exhaust before our population will be one so dense as to make the raising of sufficient to live on a serious problem. In this respect we have great promise for the future. The fact of the matter is we are more thought of abroad than we think of ourselves. Yet at the same time we think considerable of ourselves and in fact are a little conceited of our advantages. [Laughter.] Newspapers and politicians however think there are a good many bad people in the world and that things are on the verge of ruin, but I guess we are all right. [Laughter.] Still we can be improved. If I was not an American I would not dare talk like this for fear of being mobbed. [Laughter.] I thank you for this kindly expression of your esteem.

A Ride Through Sutro Tunnel

SUTRO, Oct 29.—Having delayed his departure from Virginia until Wednesday evening for that express purpose Gen. Grant accompanied by Gov. Kinkead of Nevada, J. G. Fair, U. S. Grant Jr. and a dozen other invited guests to-day visited Sutro tunnel and returned to Virginia via Savage shaft. The party left Virginia at 6 A. M. and were driven in four-in-hands to the town of Sutro where they arrived at 8 o'clock. They were welcomed by ringing of bells, blowing of whistles of the company's work shops and by heavy discharges of giant powder from the mountain tops overlooking the town. The party were received at the Sutro mansion by Adolph Sutro and officers of the company and after an examination of the works of the company at the mouth of the tunnel and a reception of citizens of the town and vicinity, breakfast was served after which the visitors were turned over to Superintendent Sheldon and Secretary Young and under the generalship of Foreman Bluett the mouth of the tunnel was reached. The party were placed aboard the cars and amidst cheers of the assembled concourse disappeared in the darkness. Quick time was made. Underground shaft number one, one mile from the entrance was reached in eight minutes, shaft No. 2 two miles from entrance in 17 minutes, and the station of the north lateral tunnel in [illegible]5 minutes. Here the party left the cars and walked to the north header to examine the underground workings and witness the execution of the powerful drilling appliances. The covered boxes which convey steaming hot water from the Comstock mines were also the object of considerable interest. Returning to the cars the trip was continued to the face of the south lateral tunnel after which the party was escorted to 1660 station at the Savage incline where they were given in charge by the tunnel officials to those of the Savage Co. and were hoisted to the surface at Virginia.

Bidding Virginia City Good Bye.

VIRGINIA CITY, Oct 29.—Shortly after noon Gen. Grant visited the Union and North Consolidated Virginia shafts and inspected the machinery in company with Mackey and Fair. At 1 o'clock the time advertised for the departure of the train there was a vast crowd of people at the depot waiting to catch a last view of the guest. At 2 o'clock four carriages came in sight bearing the general and his party, members of the reception committee, city officials, delegation from the Pacific coast pioneers, Gov. Kinkead, Mayor Young, John W. Mackey and a few invited persons. There was a burst of music from the band as the carriages made their appearance and a rush of the crowd to the north end of the depot. The party alighted and the throng made way for them. As the general gained the cars and mounted the platform his appearance was the signal for rousing cheers. He went into the dining car but soon reappeared on the platform and three cheers were given. In response to cries of "Speech," "One word before you go," etc., the general took off his hat and said:

Fellow Citizens: I am indeed glad to have had the opportunity of visiting your city and I feel grateful for the generous reception I have met with here. I have seen much that has interested me and I am sorry that I could not have made a longer stay and seen more. I bid you all farewell.

While he was uttering the last sentence the train moved off amid the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" from the band and the thunder of a salute from a battery of artillery. Some one called out "Old boy you're the boss general of the world," which created a general laugh. The train disappeared in the tunnel at 2:1[illegible] o'clock followed by waving of hats and cries of "good bye" from all sides. The general will tarry in Reno from 4 to 6 o'clock and will then go straight through to Ogden.

Receptions at Carson and Reno

CARSON, Oct 29.—Gen. Grant and party passed through on a special train about 1 P. M. bound east. They were met at the depot by a number of citizens who wished them a safe and pleasant journey home.

RENO, Oct [illegible].—The Grant party arrived from Virginia on a special train at 4 P. M. and departed east at [illegible]30. A band played and a salute of twenty-one guns was fired on their arrival. Gen. Grant held a reception in the theater and shook hands with [illegible] people. A ladies' reception was held by Mrs. Grant at the car. There was much enthusiasm. Senator [illegible] delivered an address of welcome. In reply Gen. Grant said:

It affords me great pleasure to see this bright [illegible] Nevada. I did not expect to see such agricultural [illegible]. I know what Nevada has done and is doing [illegible] the general prosperity of our country. [illegible] ladies and gentlemen [illegible] the [illegible] you have given me.

A Journalist Attempts Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 29.—W. H. Henderson commercial editor of the Chronicle attempted suicide in the Arcade saloon at the corner of Kearny and Sutter streets at about 1 o'clock this afternoon by shooting himself in the head. He wrote a note to a friend attributing his act to domestic and pecuniary troubles. He had lost considerable money in stocks lately. His wound is not necessarily fatal.

Henderson the Chronicle editor who shot himself this afternoon died early this evening.

Two of the crew were drowned off Cape St. Lucas in attempting to reach the Mexican coast for aid.

St. Julian will probably be taken east next spring. Saturday November 8th St. Julian will trot at Oakland track to try to beat his own record.

Meeting of Sand Lotters on Nob Hill—An Attempt to Revive the Old Anti-Chinese Enthusiasm

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 29.—Workingmen held quite a largely attended meeting on Nob Hill this evening which was addressed by Kearney and other speakers. It was under the auspices of the Cigar Makers Association and it is designed to hold a series of similar nature to revive the anti-Chinese excitement which has been allowed to some extent to die out of late. The speeches had a good deal of the old fashioned blood and thunder ring about them. Kearney referring to the recently reported scheme of the Chinese Merchants' Steamship Co. to put on a line of steamers between this port and China said that he was glad of it as it would teach the Pacific Mail Co. something of what workingmen had suffered from Chinese competition. The police were pretty well represented at the meeting, but there was no occasion for their services.

The Alarm Telegraph Wires in San Francisco Cut

At about 9 o'clock this evening it became known at the police and fire alarm headquarters that quite a general cutting off of alarm wires had been accomplished. Notice was at once sent to all engine houses and the police watch on duty utilized as a fire patrol and every precaution taken to ensure the safety of the city until such time as repairs can be effected. When another watch of the police force reports at midnight both watches will probably be put on until morning. The damage so far as ascertained is confined to the portion of the city north of Market street. The authorities are very reticent and are endeavoring to keep the matter quiet and it is difficult to ascertain to what extent connections have been cut. The police decline to advance any theory as to the motive of the perpetration but express confidence that the precautions they have taken will frustrate the plans for mischief if any is intended.

The Weather

The weather which has been unusually warm for several days changed suddenly this afternoon and this evening it is cool and the sky overcast. The wind is blowing from the southwest and the barometer [illegible] falling.

Fatal Accident on the Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Oct 2[illegible].—A terrible accident occurred at Six mile Bar above this city at 8 o'clock this morning. The barge J. C. Miller, in tow of the steamer Daisy got aground on the bar. Twelve men were put to work on a barge capstan trying to get the boat afloat, when the capstan flew to pieces and killed two Swedes both deck hands, one named Fred Stevenson and the other unknown. Constantly pilot of the barge is so severely injured that his life is despaired of. Eugene Hall also a deck hand was injured about the head but not seriously.

Disastrous Fire at Colfax, California

COLFAX, Oct 29.—A fire which broke out this morning in a China wash house in the middle of Chinatown completely demolished that quarter, a hotel near by and burned a block in the principal business part of the town. There was scarcely any wind. The depot was saved by the arrival of a water train from Blue Canon and a large wood shed belonging to the railroad company was saved by water from a new tank that the company has just finished. One Chinawoman was burned to death. Several families are left nearly destitute but have [illegible] temporarily provided for. [illegible] are all burnt [illegible] the loss aggregate $[illegible].

NEWS NOTES FROM THE SOUND

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE [illegible]

SEATTLE Oct [illegible]

The members of the territorial legislature were [illegible] Saturday evening with [illegible] an enthusiastic reception by our citizens.

According to an apparently well founded [illegible] some New York parties [illegible] Squire, contemplate the establishment of an [illegible]

Messrs Jackson Myers & Co. of [illegible] have closed out their cannery at Mukilteo. The cannery was established in 18[illegible]. During the first year [illegible] cases of salmon were put up. The following year preparations were made for a still larger output but the salmon failed to run and as a result only [illegible] cases were put up. This season the run has been but little better, the season closing with a total product of but [illegible] cases. These together with last year's product were shipped to San Francisco per steamer China to-day. Mr Myers informs your correspondent that the salmon run [illegible] is altogether too irregular for the business of canning ever to become profitable here.

Some of our farmers missed it terribly last spring by plowing up their hop fields under the impression that hop raising would be no longer profitable. The little boom in hops proved a [illegible] bonanza to those who kept their fields under cultivation notwithstanding the depression of the few past years. One day last week a farmer on the Snohomish river lost his farm on a $1000 mortgage. Last spring this same man had ten acres in hops which at the most moderate estimate would have brought him $[illegible]000 in cash this fall, but instead of letting the hops stand he concluded to plow the entire field up and put it in potatoes. The potato blight came on and reduced his crop one third. The result is he has realized but $300 from the ten acres, which if let alone would have produced $3,0[illegible] worth of hops at present rates.

The [illegible] river coal company, we are informed by Dr Henry the superintendent who visited this city on Monday last, are now pushing operations ahead vigorously in the development of their mine. A tunnel has been driven into the mountain from the canyon a distance of 101 feet. It is expected to cut coal in the next seventy feet and then cut a vein every thirty yards until the whole ten veins are cut. The preliminary surveys for proposed railroad to form a connection with the Northern Pacific are [illegible] all in, and the construction of the road will be commenced in the spring and pushed ahead vigorously to completion. As yet the company have been obliged to pack all provisions, mining utensils etc to the mines with mules. A blacksmith shop was packed in in this manner last week and a car for operations in the tunnel will be taken in in the same manner next week.

Some little excitement has been caused here by the discovery of what is supposed to be an extensive spring of petroleum near Seattle by parties whose names we are not at liberty to divulge at present. The matter is now being investigated by Mr W. H. Frawley of Titusville, Penn. who is extensively engaged in the oil business near that place. Mr Frawley however has but little faith in the successful development of oil wells in this section owing to the broken condition of the country. At least he states all past experience in the oil business on this coast has been prejudicial to any further investment of capital in that direction, although he is not quite certain that the conditions here are altogether so unfavorable as in southern California. There he informs your correspondent over a million and a half dollars have been sunk in the unsuccessful development of oil wells. The country however is full of petroleum which crops out in every locality, but the formation is so broken as to be incapable of holding it in pools which alone can be worked at a profit. The oil business even in Pennsylvania is no longer profitable owing to the enormous over production and there is not an "oil man" in the entire state, he says, who would not be glad to dispose of his oil property at [illegible] than its actual cost in dollars and cents.

Vessels in Port and Ready for Sea—The Work at Tillamook Rock—Remarkable Fatal Accident—The Winnemucca Railroad and Other Matters

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN]

ASTORIA, Oct 28 18[illegible]

All the grain ships which have been detained by adverse winds and rough bar have been safely towed out.

Ship Fenwick with a cargo of iron rails and two other vessels are this evening reported in sight outside the bar.

Col Talcott chief engineer of the Astoria and Winnemucca Railroad Co. returned to the city yesterday with his staff of surveyors and assistants. The colonel has not prepared his official report yet, but he is satisfied of the practicability of building a railroad from Astoria to Tualatin plains.

The vessels City of Madras, San Luis, [illegible], Patenstrug, Herbert Black, Anglo Norman and Sarmatian have all completed cargo and are ready to go to sea. If the present fine weather continues they will all go out this week and a [illegible] chance will be given them for a [illegible] to Europe.

The C[illegible] returned from Tillamook rock to lay for further supplies and material. Work on the rock is progressing very satisfactorily and weather permitting the immense derrick will soon be erected and ready for hoisting. Four or five men have been landed and permanently left on the rock with a supply of provisions which will last them some weeks. The house they live in is not very extensive but it rests on a good foundation. It consists of a good sized hole scooped out of the rock with a sail [illegible] across for a roof.

[illegible] extensive inquiry [illegible] the subject. A correspondent [illegible] ago Times writes that [illegible] the West [illegible] eastern journals for the [illegible] mark. It was [illegible] reduction of rations [illegible] debt or the sending [illegible] sole cause of the [illegible] writer in the statement [illegible] was trying to make [illegible] of the Indians and [illegible] civilization and [illegible] Under instructions [illegible] the agent had pressed [illegible] subject so persistently that [illegible] look upon it as persecution [illegible] Middle and North park though [illegible] outside the reservation were [illegible] by the White river Utes as their hunting grounds and they were in the habit of leaving the reservation and going there whenever they pleased. But the whites began to occupy those localities and that fact [illegible] of the Indians confined to their own domain and compelled to work for subsistence. The agent began by hiring [illegible] to plow the land for the raising [illegible] supplies but even this produced [illegible] The Indians grumbled about [illegible] turned their horses in to pasture on the growing wheat at the agency, and claimed that it was the duty of the government to furnish supplies to them and leave the reservation as a pasture for their horses [illegible] Some time ago the agent set a lot of them to digging ditches, and this of course increased their discontent. When they saw a flouring-mill in course of erection at the agency and reapers and mowers and cultivators being hauled in, they concluded that [illegible] delay longer was to incur the doom of slavery, and so through their chief they [illegible] the agent and demanded that the plowing should be stopped and the whole system of work and improvements with it. When the agent asked for troops he stated officially that since he had stopped farming operations all was peace but that when they were resumed trouble would be repeated. This fear of a life of labor, should a system of farming be fairly inaugurated, together with the destruction of the game in the parks outside the reservation, followed by the coming of soldiers to enforce the experiments of the Indian department led to what bids fair to be one of the most costly of Indian wars. The simple way out of this trouble is to push on the army and exterminate these Indians since they rebel against labor, the first condition of human existence and progress. Blessings on gunpowder as a civilizing agent for these lazy dirty diggers, who want to be supported by the labor of better people than themselves.

ANOTHER SHIP CANAL.

Florida's project of a ship canal actually seems to be well founded. The object is to provide a channel of commerce which will obviate the necessity of the long detour around the Florida peninsula. A combination has actually been formed of American and French capitalists to dig a canal which will permit water from the Atlantic ocean to flow into the gulf of Mexico. Such a passage will bring the mouth of the Mississippi several hundred miles nearer to New York and promote the commercial interests of the whole Mississippi valley. The governor of Florida who recently visited New York to attend a conference on the subject said there could be no doubt that the legislature of his state would grant permission and afford all necessary encouragement for the construction of the canal. Some rivalry has indeed been started by a scheme of which ex Governor Gleason is the leader, and the point made by those interested in this latter is that the plan to call an extra session of the legislature to authorize the scheme will not do and that permission for the proposed ship canal cannot be granted until the regular session of the legislature in January, 1881. But if there is no technical obstacle to the contemplated action of the legislature in extra session the work will probably soon be authorized and begun. A channel deep enough to allow the passage of vessels drawing twenty-five feet is contemplated, which will afford accommodation for all the shipping of the gulf of Mexico for all time to come. Gen. Lloyd Aspinwall, representing both the American and French projectors of the canal declares that the money is in readiness for the undertaking and that the route has been selected. All that is lacking is the permission that must come from the Florida legislature. No aid is asked of the state or national government. Private capital is waiting to cut a tide water channel across the peninsula, the pecuniary returns of the enterprise being the incitement to its projectors. In freedom from dependence upon subscriptions to their stock the capitalists who undertake the enterprise, have a great advantage over M de Lesseps and other builders of canals and if Florida exacts proper conditions in bestowing the charter now so urgently requested the advantages may be great to the people of the state as they certainly will be to general commerce. A leading commercial journal of New York from whose columns the above facts are drawn does not doubt the enterprise will be actually undertaken.

AGRICULTURAL [illegible]

[illegible] the weather [illegible] uniformly fine. Farmers are improving their opportunity to the utmost. From [illegible] parts of Oregon and Washington we have reports of unusual agricultural activity. There can be [illegible] doubt that the area of winter wheat sown will be very large. [illegible] which [illegible] more of good [illegible] the breadth of fall sown [illegible] unprecedented. Experience of the past [illegible] inducement to [illegible] the matter of [illegible] sown grain [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] member of the [illegible] face of the opinion [illegible] organization [illegible]

[illegible] the aged [illegible] sixty year [illegible] to be turned loose to starve [illegible] children of the aged freedmen [illegible] be kept in bondage and thus prevented [illegible] to the support of their parents [illegible] until sixty years of age at a [illegible] plantation can be set [illegible] to his owner [illegible] be to provide for the superannuated servant during the remainder of his days. The proposition of the slave holders to turn their old slaves out to starve is worthy of the record of slavery in Cuba.

Ex Gov Walker who carpet bagged from New York to Virginia [illegible] governor of that state has returned to New York to reside. In a speech at [illegible] recently he said that the republicans had no right to complain of the solid south for there would be no solid south if the republican party would disband. This is a reiteration of the argument presented by Jeff Davis to show that the north was responsible for the war. All the south wants said [illegible] is to be let alone. The war then was caused by the movement of national troops into the south and now the solid south is the result of the determined effort of northern republicans to maintain the results of the war and enforce the constitutional amendments.

A correspondent telegraphing to the New York Herald from Vicksburg Miss first mentions that Senator Lamar whom he seems to have been interviewing favors Senator Bayard of Delaware for the presidency and then adds that he deplores the Yazoo affair. He is to be commended for his preference of Senator Bayard for the presidency but with regard to the Yazoo affair he would have been entitled to much higher consideration if instead of sending his regrets thus briefly through a newspaper reporter he had in a more open and comprehensive way either published or delivered orally himself such a denunciation of the outrage as its black character deserved.

The increasing sales of public lands to actual settlers and of entries under the homestead law furnishes convincing proof of the more cheerful era on which we have entered after the long, dull and despondent time that followed the break down in 1873. In the year ended June 30 1879 the purchase covered 8 650 114 acres and the entries under the homestead and timber culture laws embraced 8 026 685—the numbers in either case being nearly twice what they were in 1875.

Parton, the alleged historian, has shown up George Washington as something of a fraud, and Isaac N Arnold, of Chicago, has vindicated Benedict Arnold. A hundred years hence some audacious historian may give Lincoln's place to Jeff Davis and Grant's to Robert E Lee. The flood of years makes the truth of history the most nice thing in the world.

Robert Douglas a son of the late Stephen A Douglas, who drew $58 000 from the treasury the other day on a cotton claim is having a world of trouble with the Washington sharks. Several lawyers aided him and now charge such enormous prices for their services that Mr Douglas refuses to pay them and will contest their demands in the courts.

New York City has a debt of over $105,000 000, the great bulk of which is chargeable to Tweed and his gang.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—12 M. A. M. [illegible] generally clear weather.

CITY.

BARGE LAUNCHED.—Yesterday afternoon the mammoth barge which has been in process of construction at the O. S. N. Co.'s boneyard for some weeks, was launched. Several hundred people were present and witnessed the affair, which must be recorded as one of the most successful which has ever taken place in this city. At 4:30, Mr. John Holland, the chief builder, gave the order to the men to "wedge her up." In an instant two score hammers were ringing vigorously on the wedges. Fifteen minutes' work raised the hull so that the props and stays were knocked away, leaving her resting in the cradle. A few moments of active preparation followed, when Mr. Holland sang out, "Stand clear." The spectators who had crowded about moved back a few paces and watched with increased interest the proceedings. Everything being in complete readiness, the words "cut her away," were given just 11 minutes to 5 o'clock. The ropes which held the cradle secure to the ways were severed at the same instant and the handsome craft slid down the lubricated incline and took her first plunge into her native element. A number of persons were on board the barge when she took her initial bath in the Willamette. No delay or accident occurred, and Mr. Holland deserves great credit for the manner in which everything was managed. The barge is 200 feet long, 45 feet beam and 9 feet hold. She has a carrying capacity of 1200 tons. To day the barge will be towed down the river for the purpose of lightering the ship Tecumseh, which comes with a load of railroad iron for the Western Oregon Railroad.

TRAIN DITCHED.—Considerable excitement was occasioned yesterday forenoon by reports which were circulated on the streets to the effect that a disastrous railroad accident had occurred on the westside road several miles from the city. However, it was soon ascertained that the report was greatly exaggerated; that no lives were lost, and, in fact, no one even injured. As the train, consisting of 22 cars, mostly laden with wheat were coming north, and was rounding a curve in a deep cut about three miles this side of Beaverton and near Olsen's switch, Colburn being on top of the third car from the engine, he noticed the eighth car suddenly commence to "buck," and understanding the cause signaled to stop the locomotive. The ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth cars were bucking and dancing about the cut in a promiscuous manner, the front and hind cars remaining on the track. The train was stopped and with but little examination of the wreck the passengers were transferred to the box cars and brought on to the city. The cars, which were detached, are badly damaged. A party was sent from this city as soon as the train reached here, and the work of removing the debris commenced at once. The track was put in order and the broken cars moved out of the way so that no delay will be occasioned. The accident was caused by the track spreading.

A SALACIOUS MISCREANT.—The Telegram says: "On complaint of Mr. Rathman, a farmer who resides six miles south of East Portland, a warrant for the arrest of Harry Burress was issued to-day by Justice Bybee, charging him with an attempt to outrage the little daughter of the complaining witness yesterday on Rathman's farm. Burress has been in the employ of Rathman for some time, and hitherto comported himself so decently that his employer had no occasion to suspect the fellow's libidinous character. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Rathman, hearing his child scream in the barn, hastened to ascertain the cause, and discovered the lecherous villain trying to accomplish his devilish purpose. Constable Sprague proceeded to the farm this afternoon to secure the fellow's appearance. The prisoner will have been provided with quarters in the county jail by the time this item reaches our readers."

PLEASANT SURPRISE.—The Advocate says: "A pleasant surprise party met at the Taylor street M. E. parsonage on the evening of October 24. It was planned in memory of the birthday of the pastor's wife, Mrs. J. H. Acton. Several handsome and valuable presents were bestowed. In the name of the donors, Mrs. M. F. Mulkey delivered the following unique address: 'In behalf of your many friends, I take pleasure in presenting these mementoes in remembrance of your birthday. Hoping all the surprises of your life may prove as happy as the present, we wish you many returns of the day.' A happy speech of 'Thank you,' was responded. After refreshments, likewise secretly provided for the occasion, and music by Miss Emberson and Mrs. Goodsell, the company dispersed after an evening of real surprise and jolly good humor."

OVERDOSE OF MORPHINE.—A Swede named Chas. F. Sampson died in this city Tuesday afternoon quite suddenly from an overdose of morphine. Sampson, it seems, had been suffering for some time from an acute pain in one of his knees, and to obtain relief had been in the habit of using morphine. The habit grew on him until he was accustomed to take large doses frequently. Tuesday afternoon, while in a saloon on First street, between C and D, he was taken suddenly ill. Dr. Thiesen was called in, but Sampson soon after died. An examination was made, and the doctor pronounced that death was caused by an overdose of morphine administered by his own hands. Sampson formerly lived at Astoria.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY.—The Northwestern Band, through its accomplished leader, Prof. J. H. Brenner, has received from New York for the coming season some of the latest and best dance and promenade music, which they have been actively rehearsing. The popularity of this band is on the increase, and they have already been engaged for a private party this evening, the Emmet Guard excursion to-morrow, the Turn Verein Sunday, the Concordia Club November 5th, the Ellison Battalion celebration November 12th, and regularly for a dancing club commencing late next month.

ABOUT POSTAL CARDS.—A long standing order of the postoffice department has required that all postal cards having any portion of the message written on their face, should be unmailable. Assistant Postmaster General Tyner has rescinded the order to the extent that such writing shall not render them unmailable per se, nor prevent their being mailed, unless it makes the address illegible. The public is cautioned, however, by the message to the face that they incur the risk of the cards being delayed or missent.

ANOTHER BOAT.—The O. S. N. Co. contemplate the construction of a very large steamer at Celilo next season, which, when completed, will have a carrying capacity of 700 tons. The new craft will be 225 feet long, 45 feet beam and 9 feet hold. The chief engineer of the company is engaged in figuring on the machinery for the new boat, and the contract for the same will probably be soon let.

WILL BE LAUNCHED.—The new steam ferry boat for the Oregon and California Railroad Co. will be launched from the ways on the east side of the river next Saturday at 10 A. M. Several of the railroad officials will be on board and when the new craft takes her first plunge. Steam will be raised on board the boat at the time of the launch, and the trial trip will be made at once.

THE FEMALE PEDESTRIANS.—The following female pedestrians are on board the Oregon and will arrive here to-morrow: Miss [illegible] Von Berg of New York, Miss [illegible] of San Francisco, Miss [illegible], Miss Maybelle Stern [illegible] of Boston, Miss Sadie Donley and Miss [illegible] of San Francisco, Miss Lucy Denman of [illegible].

MARRIED.—At 3 o'clock yesterday [illegible] Mr. George H. Bennett, [illegible] Clarke & Henderson, took unto himself a wife in the person of Miss [illegible] well wishes of many friends.

FIRST TRAIN FROM INDEPENDENCE.—[illegible] Independence [illegible] arrived here.

ARRIVED.—The steamer State of California arrived [illegible] San Francisco yesterday at 9 A. M. [illegible] report there says that Captain [illegible] northwest winds and [illegible]

CROSSED OUT.—A dispatch from Astoria [illegible] says that the ship [illegible] crossed out to sea. No tugs came up from the bar.

STEAMER OREGON.—This steamer sailed yesterday from San Francisco for Portland. She brings [illegible] passengers and about 1100 tons of freight.

AUTHORIZATION.—Last evening the council made an authorization for the erection of a street lamp at the corner of A and Sixth streets.

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD [illegible] HILL WINES.

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusel oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California's Inspector [illegible] pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor City government revenue [illegible] at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report that after [illegible] years of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

NINTH DAY.

The Attendance Growing Larger Every Day—The School Children's Drawings.

Interest in the fair continues to increase, the attendance yesterday being much larger than that of the evening before, and more than double that of Wednesday of last week. The presence of people from the interior was noticeable yesterday. Three hundred and twenty seven people entered on excursion tickets, bought at various points throughout the valley, showing the indirect purpose in visiting the city was to attend the fair. Many others came in without special tickets, and it is estimated that the outside attendance for the day was fully 700 persons. All, of course, were highly pleased, and the incident shows that future annual exhibitions will attract large attendance from the country. From 7:30 o'clock last evening till to the hour of closing the lower floor and galleries were crowded with people, the bright costumes of the ladies, the dashing fountain and the beautiful arrays forming a charming scene, while enthusiastic [illegible] inspired a [illegible] and pleasing animation.

To-morrow will be children's day at the pavilion and it is expected that the attendance of little folks will be large. A statement of special rates for school children will appear in THE OREGONIAN of to-morrow. The following is the band programme for to-night:

1—Reception March
2—Andante
3—Hildah Waltz quickstep
5—Schubert's serenade
6—Gallop, Good Luck.

PENCIL SKETCHES BY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The drawing exhibit by the scholars of the public schools attracts much attention from the old as well as young. The present system of drawing was introduced only two years ago, and the scholars have only a short time each week to devote to that interesting study. The drawings on exhibition were made at the regular semi annual examination, and not especially prepared for the fair. No assistance to the pupils was permitted and no corrections were made. The following of the number are worthy of particular mention:

Harrison Street School—Misses Lucy Shattuck, Minnie Greensteel, Nellie Walker, Blanche Hampton; Masters Hosea Wood, Oscar Shattuck.

North School—Misses Lizzie Burton, Eliza Bills, Sophie Martin, Alvina Greuter, Lizzie Ralph; Masters Norman Biles, Robert Pittock, George Crane, Fred. Pittock, Charles Hoquette.

Central School—Misses May Whitehouse, Fannie Dickinson, Fannie Plummer, Agnes Nisbet, Jennie Pulger, Minnie Lynes. Masters Earl Bronaugh, Louis Quackenbush.

High school—Misses Laura Bell, Cora Cox, Kate Selby, Eliza Hoyt, Allie White, Eunie Blackwood, Lucy Van Vliet; Masters Fred. Schoppe, Curtis Holcomb, Frank Lesourd, James Tayer, Alfred Slocum.

The very handsome lettering of the placards designating the different schools is the work of Misses Eliza Bills, Emma Tolman, Annie Covalt, Maggie Muckum, Nellie Walker, Alice White, Susie Vaider. Masters Norman Biles, C. W. Sa[illegible] and Curtis Holcomb.

Thompson, DeHart & Co.

This firm whose exhibit on the main floor of the pavilion, was described in THE OREGONIAN a few days ago, is the oldest hardware house in the city and one of the most honorable and enterprising. The display shows only a very few samples of the leading departments of their immense establishment, corner First and Yamhill streets, and running back to Front. Their present salesrooms are 25x100 feet, two stories high, with a basement. This latter contains large quantities of goods in original packages for shipment and for reserve stock. The third story is completely filled with blacksmith tools, bellows, anvils, vises, horse shoes and nails. In the Front-street department, and the First-street division contains an immense assortment of all kinds of ship chandlery, hemp and manilla rope blocks, anchors, oar oakum, pitch, ship spikes and nails. The wagon makers' department, is in every particular complete, and manufacturers can find here every variety of springs, axles, wrought and malleable iron trimmings, carriage iron work, and bar iron and steel of all sizes.

The ground floor of the First street department, is devoted exclusively to their large retail business and contains builders' hardware of every description, suitable for all classes of buildings from the humblest cottage to the palatial mansion, and every manner of tool used by carpenter, plasterer, brick mason, painter, blacksmith, butcher, wood chopper and logger from best American and English manufactories. In table and pocket cutlery, the firm carries an immense stock, and another one of their specialties is circular, cross-cut and band saws. Their stock of undertakers' goods is the largest of any house on this coast.

In addition to their down town establishment, the firm have a large building, 60x100 feet, on the corner of Second and Main streets, devoted to hubs, spokes, Sarven's patent wheels, wagon timber and hardwood lumber. This branch is under charge of a practical mechanic and experienced wagon maker, an obvious advantage to the purchaser.

By selling only the best makes of goods at the lowest profit by honorable dealing, and courteous treatment of customers, Messrs. Thompson, DeHart & Co. have built up a trade extending to all parts of the northwest coast.

REMOVAL.

FALSE IMPRESSION.

It is generally supposed by physicians and the people generally that Dyspepsia cannot invariably be cured, but we are pleased to say that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms, such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, &c. Out of the 60,000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from Druggists of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample Bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by Hodge, Davis & Co.

A Frequent but Fatal Mistake.

As the Irishman who had just landed and refused to pick up a dollar, thinking to go where they were "thicker," came to want, so those who fancy that a cough or cold will cure itself, and refuse to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, often die with consumption. This great remedy is an unsurpassed pectoral and blood purifier. It speedily cures a cough or cold, and consumption in its earlier stages readily yields to it. It has no known equal in controlling and curing all scrofulous tumors, ulcers and eruptions. Some fancy because the Discovery is advertised to cure a wide range of diseases it cannot cure any. Now, let us see. Suppose a surgeon in bisecting a limb, could he not truthfully say that his treatment would gradually overcome all faintness, nausea, dizziness, weakness and lameness? Each symptom different, yet all dependent upon the same cause. By this process the Golden Medical Discovery cures many diseases, though all are dependent upon impoverished blood and general debility. Read the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser carefully. Dr. Pierce's method of medication is therein fully explained.

White's Prairie Flower.

Taken before retiring, will insure a good night's rest, with an awakening in the rosy morn to health, courage and vigor. For coated tongue, bad breath, sick headache, or any disturbance arising from dyspepsia or torpid liver it is without a peer. Its action on disease is entirely different from any medicine ever introduced, quieting pains almost instantly. The hue and cry raised against it by patent medicine men, who have foreseen in its advent the destruction of their nefarious business, and the thousand of unsolicited testimonials flowing in from all parts of the New World is a sure indication of its great merits. Trial size at all Drug Stores. Half pint [illegible]

No Hospital Needed.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 30, 1879

HER LOVERS.

My first—my very first—his name was Will—
A handsome fellow—fair, with curling hair,
And every eve, I have his kerchief still—
He went to Galveston and settled there
At least, I heard so. Ah, dear me, dear me!
How [illegible] love [illegible] to be.

The second, Robert [illegible]
The first night that we met—I was at [illegible]
A [illegible] boy! He carried off my glove,
[illegible] half the dances at the ball
And flirted in the most outrageous way
Oh, me! how auntie scolded all next day.

The third awoke my heart. From night till morn,
From morn till night again, I dreamed of him
I treasured [illegible] he had worn.
My tears and kisses made his picture dim
Strange that I can be [illegible], and [illegible]
When I remember Paul—that was his name!

The fourth and fifth were brothers—[illegible]
[illegible] kind, devoted, clever, too
[illegible] shabby to refuse them—at
[illegible] one day—but what else could I do?
My heart was still with Paul—and he had gone
[illegible] with the Misses Garretson.

He never cared for me—I found that out
Despite the foolish clinging of my hope
A few months proved it clear beyond a doubt.
I steeled my heart; I would not pine or mope;
But masked myself in gaiety, and went
To grace his wedding when the cards were sent.

So these were all my loves. My husband? Oh,
I met him down in [illegible] fall
Rich, middle-aged and prosy, as you know.
He asked me—I accepted—that is all.
A kind, good soul; he worships me—but then
I never count him in with other men.

MISS PATTY'S TREASURE.

Miss Patty Craig was much talked about in the primitive village of Woodbury. She had come from "furrin' parts," old Mrs. Brown said, as a convenient way of disposing of the stranger's origin, for nobody knew where she came from—and had bought a little house with a garden attached. The latter she cultivated more and more as the years went by, until from a small beginning she had quite a thriving business. The grocers and mechanics' wives were glad to get her early vegetables, and even some of the neighboring farmers thought it a saving of time to buy of Miss Patty. So an elderly German woman was hired to assist occasionally, who came to live with her finally.

Certainly this seemed an innocent way to make a living, and a prudent one in a village with more women who did plain sewing than could be employed, with a milliner who every spring supplied each young lady in the neighborhood with a hat which could be "done over" for winter by changing blue and pink and lilac ribbons for brown and black and scarlet. With a mantua maker who sometimes made a dress when anybody was going to be married, and a venerable pedagogue who was a fixture in the one school of the place, who, notwithstanding his age was able to teach the branches most commonly taught in the United States, as well as expound some theories unknown anywhere else on the globe.

Those who called on the new-comer, partly from curiosity and partly from friendliness, were courteously received but they did not care to repeat their visits. Miss Patty was not sociable. She went nowhere, except to church, and either from natural disposition or lack of interest in her neighbors, was insensible to the charms of gossip. One inspection of the modest furniture, and the well-kept rooms left no more to be discovered. But that there was some mystery about Patty Craig, the people of Woodbury felt certain, and finally it took this form: She was a rich woman, and distrusting banks, had come from a distant city with her treasure in portable form to bury it in the obscure village. Whether it was jewels or money, was a subject for speculation, but it was noticed on the first day of her arrival she wore a ring, with a sparkling stone, supposed to be a diamond. As it was never worn afterward, it was probably locked up with other valuables.

"I should think she would be afraid of getting robbed, with no man folks about the house," said Mrs. Brown, for Woodbury, though little heard of by the rest of the world, was not unknown to tramps.

Miss Patty, however, seemed disturbed by no such wearing cares. Five years gave to her figure the fullness it had lacked, while much outdoor exercise brought a bloom to the pale cheek. Truly hers was an attractive face, and the thoughtful, frank brown eyes were enough to disarm censorious gossip.

It was not from spite, however, that people talked. They would have accepted any statement she might have been pleased to make; but as she made none it was only human nature for Miss Patty's neighbors to speculate upon the cause of her coming to Woodbury, and to wonder at her seclusion. Katarina sold the vegetables and bought the groceries needed.

"As for dresses, she's not had a new one since she's been here—the stingy creature," said Mrs. Brown, "and all that money doing nobody any good."

Meanwhile, the subject of these remarks kept on the even tenor of her way. For employment she had her garden, her housekeeping and her fowls, for recreation her books and a fine toned organ.

But a change came at last. On a certain Wednesday in November, farmer Lewis had gone to the nearest railway town, fourteen miles away, to meet his wife's niece, also the Methodist minister expected by the same train. He was to preach a Thanksgiving sermon in Woodbury the next day.

It happened that the afternoon train was late, the roads were bad, so it was past nine o'clock when the farm wagon came in sight of Miss Patty's house. The few stars obscured by clouds gave but a faint light, yet it was sufficient to enable the two men in the wagon to see the outlines of a form as it leaped to the ground from Miss Patty's window.

"Whoa," said the farmer softly, "did you see that?" to Mr. Ryland; then, without waiting for a reply, "do you stay here with Jennie while I see what is wrong. Jennie, keep quiet."

The reverend gentleman quickly followed, however, not having any great faith perhaps in the old man's ability to deal with robbers single-handed. Jennie, fearing to be left alone, brought up the rear, trembling from head to foot, yet mindful of her uncle's injunction to "keep quiet." The front part of the house was closed, but passing around to the back part, which was hidden from the road, they found the door ajar and the lock lying on the step. Without a word they entered, passed through his room and the next into Miss Patty's room. This was the sight which met their eyes: Miss Patty, with a very white face and closed eyes, lying on the lounge, the book she had been reading fallen upon the floor. Katrina, who had stubbornly refused to faint, was bound and gagged, while a man burly of form and brawny of limb stood searching the open drawers of a bureau. The surprise party made no noise, but catching sight of their reflections in the glass, he turned and made a dash for his pistol, but Mr. Ryland seized it first and held the disarmed ruffian at bay. The farmer brought a stout rope from his wagon, put there according to his custom to use in case of need. The robber was quickly bound and locked in a closet, and they turned their attention to the women. The farmer released Katrina, whose eyes had been following his movements approvingly, while Mr. Ryland brought water which Jennie Bishop sprinkled in Miss Patty's face. The soft eyes opened wonderingly upon the strange scene.

"Jennie, dear, how came you here?"

"Oh, Miss Patty, how came you here?" said Jennie, as she recognized her questioner, whom in her fright she had not before known.

Miss Patty looked at the two men before her, and a swift crimson surged over her face.

"She's comin' round now," said the elder, noticing this. But Mr. Ryland took both her hands in his own.

"Miss Patty," he said, "I thought you were married to Ephraim Raines."

"Uncle, had you not better go for some one to take that burglar away?" said Jennie, as she followed Katrina into the kitchen.

The man was taken into custody, but could give no account of his companion, who had gone out to reconnoitre, and seeing the wagon, had made sure of his own escape without waiting to warn the other. He confessed that he had been tempted by the reports of Miss Patty's concealed wealth.

Mr. Lewis' invitation [illegible] Miss Patty were safe [illegible]

[illegible]

I could not marry him. With a few hundred dollars I had saved I bought a little home. I still wore the engagement ring Mr. Raines had given me, though I afterward returned it to him. That I suppose gave rise to those absurd stories about my wealth, of which I was ignorant until a few days ago. The only treasure I have treasured these long years have been a package of yellow letters, a few faded flowers and a picture."

"But," said Jennie, growing impatient at the [illegible], "you will be afraid to [illegible] here [illegible] with only Katrina."

"Yes," was the reply.

"And you look so pretty and happy to-night, and Mr. Ryland would make a good protector, I know," ventured the young lady, who, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, [illegible] uncommonly wide awake.

"We are to be married in two weeks," said Miss Patty; "and now, my dear, you must go to sleep."

We have before noticed the general advance in prices of nearly all classes of merchandise, and we are now placed in possession of a circular letter from a leading dealer in iron, etc., in San Francisco, in which the rise in this commodity is commented on to some extent. Though other articles generally do not show such a marked advance, what is true of iron is true of many other goods which enter largely into the necessities of the people. The letter referred to was received some days ago, and is dated Oct. 15th, and says:

"After six years of the most extreme commercial depression throughout the country, the United States may be said to have fairly entered upon a new era of prosperity. The evidences of restoration are apparent on every hand. With home obligations largely liquidated, the bulk of foreign indebtedness discharged and exports exceeding imports hundreds of millions of dollars yearly; gold coming to this country from Europe by the millions; occupying the position of the largest grain-exporting country, with unprecedented crops this year and a stable currency of unvarying value, why should we not have good times?"

The first to feel the benefits of returning prosperity is the iron trade. The hand-to-mouth policy of ore and iron dealers in all our iron manufactures has resulted in the consumption of all iron products as made, and gradually all surplus, until there are no large stocks of ore, pig, or manufactured iron in the country.

There is an increased demand for rails and iron for railroad purposes, as many companies who have not done any repairs for years are now doing so to a large extent, and there is no doubt that the legitimate requirements of the iron trade in all branches are much greater than for several years past. The result is that the whole iron trade and producers have just awakened to the fact that there exists a great scarcity of iron and that the demand is out of all proportion to the visible supply.

Predictions as regards to the future are entirely out of the question, but for the present the tendency is steadily upward with no signs whatever of a retrograde movement. It is generally believed, however, that the scarcity of supplies with an increased demand from buyers of every description of iron and the consumption steadily increasing, that the market for months will remain firm. It must be remembered that iron pipe, bar and sheet iron have been selling at a loss. They had fallen to a lower point than was ever before known in the history of the iron trade, and when the advance came it was sure to be more than the increased cost of the material itself.

We cannot better give you an idea of the condition of things in the east, and the difficulty in obtaining goods there at present than by quoting from recent letters of our New York correspondent in relation to iron pipe and sheet iron. He says: "No abatement in the demand; scarcely a mill that is able, even if so disposed, to sell for delivery before January. It is simply impossible to place orders for immediate delivery. Mills have orders booked sufficient to keep them steadily running for ninety days. The manufacturers appear to dispose of their products more as a matter of favor than of business, and buyers have to make frequent applications before they can find any one willing to name a price, particularly if the quantity asked for is of any importance. The demand continues to be in excess of the supply, and no doubt that the legitimate demands for consumption during the balance of the year will be sufficient to absorb the entire products. Prices are made from day to day, and appear to rest with sellers. The question is not so much one of price as it is in getting an order taken at whatever rate may be current at time of delivery."

STOVES.

At a meeting of forty of the stove manufacturers held at Cleveland Sept. 15th it was decided to advance prices of stoves. We have received notices from many of the manufacturers advising us of an advance in prices from 10 to 25 per cent.

TIN PLATES.

In England also there is a great revival in trade and the advance in prices of sheet iron and tin plates have been very material within the past 30 days. In relation to tin plates our correspondent cables under date of 8th October: "Market wild and excited, prices advancing." Therefore an advance in price of stamped tin ware may soon be looked for."

Nails—Price July 1, 1879, 10s to 60s, being standard, $2 80 per keg; Oct. 10, 1879, $4 50 per keg.

This market has not yet fully responded to the advance in the east, and should the prices established by the eastern manufacturers be maintained, a farther advance may be looked for in this market.

The local wheat market has very nearly the same aspect to-day as yesterday, and the few transactions reported show no material decline, although the home market, in sympathy with those abroad, is weaker, and buyers are purchasing very cautiously, and operate only to an extent sufficient to supply immediate wants. The quotable price is still given at $1 85@1 90 per cental.

The freight market is gradually moving up, and rates are now from 70s upward, with no disposition on the part of shippers to take up vessels.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR. PAUL M. BRENAN need have no fear. But what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make their body pure and their mind content if they will only follow his advice and treatment.
